DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 18, 2007 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. Applicant's remarks filed July 18, 2007 states that claim 10 has been cancelled. However, amendment section shows claim 10 to be pending. It is assumed that claim 10 has been cancelled for this office action only. Applicant's confirmation is requested in response to this office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Orloff (US 6,009,623) in view of Lebouitz et al. (US 6,494,882).

Orloff discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the non-piezoelectric sensor including at least one of an electromagnetic induction sensor, an ultrasonic sensor, a hall effect sensor, a capacitive sensor, a charge transfer sensor, an electric field sensor, a magnetostrictive sensor, and an angular rate sensor. Lebouitz discloses a non-piezoelectric sensor including at least one of an electromagnetic induction sensor, an ultrasonic sensor, a hall effect sensor, a capacitive sensor, a charge transfer sensor, an electric field sensor, a magnetostrictive sensor, and an angular rate sensor (e.g., 30) for use with a cutting instrument. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ a non-piezoelectric sensor as taught by Lebouitz on the device of Orloff in order to allow measurement of parameters of a blade and/or the workpiece to aid in the quality of the shave.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed July 18, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant contends that the teachings of the '882 patent would lead one of skill in the art away from moving the sensors from the cutting edge to the handle and arriving at the invention.

The examiner respectfully disagrees. Orloff teaches a sensor within a razor handle. Lebouitz teaches the use of non-piezoelectric sensor on a cutting instrument. It is the examiner's position that one skill in the art would have been motivated to employ the non-piezoelectric sensor as taught by Lebouitz in the razor handle of the Orloff to arrive at the claimed invention and that there would have been a reasonable expectation of success.
